Introduction

This bibliography outlines the University of Tennessee Special Collections Library's holdings documenting women's positions and activities in Christianity. Although it is not intended to provide a comprehensive list of the Library's holdings on the topic, this bibliography provides a representative sample of the material available.

For more resources related to women's history at the Special Collections Library, please consult the other Women's Studies Bibliographies, including:

- Legal and Political Issues (documenting women's traditional roles, women's legal status, women's suffrage, the temperance movement, the League of Women Voters, the women's liberation movement, and women politicians and lobbyists.)
- Women in the Southeast (including materials documenting prominent American and Native American women, items regarding numerous women's clubs and associations, descriptions and analyses of women's lives in the Southeast, and serial publications marketed specifically to women.)
- Women's Education (including materials documenting women's experiences as students and teachers on both the primary and secondary levels.)

Researchers may consult these materials in the Special Collections Library's reading room on the second floor of the James D. Hoskins Library (1400 Cumberland Avenue) during our normal working hours of Monday to Friday, 9.00am to 5.30pm. More information about these resources or about the library in general can be found in the UT Libraries' catalog (<http://www.lib.utk.edu/catalog>) and on the Special Collections Library's website (<http://www.lib.utk.edu/spcoll>).
